

The International Society of Glass Beadmakers Perspectives:

Traditions and Innovations in Glass Beads

The International Society of Glass Beadmakers is pleased to present Perspectives: Traditions and Innovations in Glass Beads. This juried exhibition of ISGB artists represents the endlessly captivating styles, techniques, and processes used in contemporary glass beadmaking. Unique color, form, and textural elements were combined to highlight the infinite possibilities of glass, as expressed by our members. Artists were encouraged to create a bead that best captured their inspiration and personal "voice."

The Perspectives exhibit was designed to celebrate the diversity of expression that is possible in glass beadmaking, from time honored traditional techniques to innovative ways of working with glass. This is an engaging collection of work, resulting in extraordinary creativity, superior artistry and unique design.

ISGB is a non-profit organization dedicated to promoting the growth and recognition of the fine art of glass beadmaking. We are truly honored to bring this distinctive collection of small wonders in glass artistry to Lancaster, Ohio: a city rich in glass history.

For more information on ISGB and the art of glass beadmaking, visit www.isgb.org .